WHO KILLED HIM?

A MAN FOUND DEAD WITH AN UM-BRETTA WIRE IN HIS EYE. TWO MEN CLAIM TO BE HIS SLAYER

VOL. XXI.

They Both Assert That They Thrashed Ruffians With Umbrellas on the Street on Which the Dead Man Was Found.

NEW YORK, November 20 .- [Special.]-Major Joseph Stewart, whose efforts in behalf of the confederate soldiers' home at Austin, Texas, last winter, gave him a wide popularity in the south, and which suggested the Georgia confederate home, called upon Inspector Byrnes today, accompanied by General Roger A Pryor, and told a story which seemed to him in the murder of a man in thi implicate him in the murder of a first like insults of a ruffian that the major belives that he unwittingly caused the death of a man en tirely unknown to him. AND HAD ENTERED HIS BRAIN. He was taken to the hospital, where he died some days later. Major Stewart, in his statement today, said that, accompanied by his wife, he was walking along Broadway one ing about the date of the murder, when an unknown man caught his wife by the arm and spoke to her. The major at once attacked the man and beat him severely with his umbrella, after which he and his wife left. After reading of the murdered man's strange death, it occurred to him that the man might have been the fellow he chastised. This soon became a conviction, and so he de-cided to consult with the inspector. The inspector soon made him happy however, by telling him that he was not the slayer, as another man had also surrendered himself today. The major then departed, feeling very happy. The other man who had given himself up is Sigfried H. May, a liquor dealer. He had been on Broadway on the night in question with two friends, Messrs. Reinhardt and Sondhim, agents of the Manhattan Life Insurance company in Texas. He was insulted by a man, whom he promptly

FAYETTEVILLE'S CELEBRATION Of the Centennial of the Adoption of the Constitution. FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., November 20 .- [Special.]—The centennial celebration of the rati-fication by North Carolina of the constitution of the United States began here today. It is particularly interesting and important as the first distinctively southern celebration of a national event of such a character. Governor Fowle inaugurated the ceremonies. He was received on his arrival at noon by a military escort headed by the Marine band, of Wash

Mayor Ray, welcomed him to Fayetteville, which a century ago was the state capital and where the federal constitution was ratified. The governor made a stirring speech, in the the governor made a surring speech, in the course of which he said:

It is with great pleasure that I stand here today and see collected, for patriotic purposes, so many representatives of the entire population of North Caroline. Just a century ago our patriotic ancestors, in convention assembled, ratified the glorious constitution of the United States, under which the several states of the union have become prosperous and the covernment, the leading power of the world. the government the leading power of the world. Our strength, our prosperity, have been and are due to that immortal instrument, which was the work of sagacious statesmen, and was by far the best model of government which human wisdom has ever devised.

For myself, in meditating upon it from its many proportioned sides—with reverence I say it—the bare conception of the constitution of the United States was the grandest creation since the universe itself was made. Like that, it has its luminary, around which spheres revolve, even as each turning on its avice. on its axis. From time to time discordant ideas, like meteors

From time to time discordant ideas, like meteors, may fissh across its orbit, but they are as powerless to arrest its progress as the meteor the wirid's.

I can see in the line before me the ranks of the state goard of North Carolinia, over them is flying the stars and stripes, typical of the union.

In these ranks, here and there, I see those who, wenty-five years ago were serving under another flag and with his faith pledged to another allegiance, and yet today his eye becomes brighter as the flag of our country floats before him, remuding him of the greatness of this union, of which North Carolinia is a part.

Confederate soldier, you acted a part in the late unpleasantness at the command of your mother—Morth Carolinia—and in your service to her you discharged a duty you owed your state.

Cherish your recollections of your soldier's life. Record every act of having performed by the confederate soldier under the stars and bars, for I want you to be able to show to the witnessing world, if occasion should ever arise, that you will surpass the fecond made then under another flag. In your zeal and heroism in behalf in behalf of the flag for this reunited union; cultivate this spirit of love of union and a century hence, instead of twenty thousand enthusiastic North Carolinains celebrating the pathotic action of their annestors, 200,000 will crowd these streets for the purpose of bearing testimony to the wisdom and valor and patriotism of our ancestors who for North Carolinair attified the constitution of the United Stales.

WAR DAMAGE CLAIMS. Pennsylvania Border Counties Will Demand

Pay for Confederate Invasion.

CHAMBERSBUERG, Pa., November 20.—[Special.] — Governor Beaver, Auditor General McCaman, Attorney General Kirkpatrick and several members of the statoflegislature, who constitute a commission to lay before congress the claims of the border counties of Pennsylvania for extraordinary losses incurred by confederate invasion during the late war, and to demand their payment by the government, met here today to organize and to consult with representatives of the border counties. The claims for the burning of Chambersburg and for losses in the other counties aggregate about $3,000,000. The state of Pennsylvania has made three separate appropriations, amounting to $900,000, towards the relief of the sufferers. It is the intention of the commission, backed by the united Pennsylvania delegation in congress, to ask that the state be re-imbursed for its outlay, and that he balance of the claims be paid. The commission effected a temporary organization here today. It will meet again at Harrisburg early in December, and proceed to Washington to present the claims to congress.

The Founder of the Knights Very III. Pay for Confederate Invasion.

The Founder of the Knights Very III. Lina, O., November 20.—J. H. Rathbone, of Washington, founder of the order of Knights of Pythias, is prostrated at a hotel in this city with an immense carbuncle. He is not expected to live, and his family have been teleprobed for.

EVERYTHING LOOKS LOVELY For the New Republic Formed Without Bloodshed.

Washington, November 20—Dr. Valente, Brazilian minister, has not yet been officially requested to ask the United States government to recognize the United States of Brazil. He believes such a request will not be made immediately, but that the new government will wait a reasonable length of time in order to satisfy the world of its stability before seeking formal recognition.

The minister regards the views of the dominant republicaus, as set forth in their man festo, as most reasonable in all respectis, and as they have assumed all of the obligations and debts of the empire, and have guaranteed the fullest measure of protection and personal lib-erty to citizens of other nations residing in Brazil, as well as security to their vested in terests, he cannot see any excuse for dissatisfac tion abroad at the recent change. A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

In his view a constitutional convention must be assembled in Brazil at the earliest possible moment. This body will probably readjust the boundaries or representation of the twenty existing provinces, which vary largely in size and density of population.

The senate will also have to be reconstructed.

ists has been misunderstood as tending towards "As a matter of fact," said Dr. Valente, "I "As a matter of fact," said Dr. valente, "It was a liberal movement, as will be understood when it is generally known that senators under the old regime were elected for life, and it has been asserted did not always continue to reflect the views of their constituents."

THE EXTENSION OF SUPERAGE.

Its abolition as the first act of the revolution

The minister also looks forward to an extension of the right of sufferage by the consti-tutional convention at present, in addition to ordinary requirements of age, citizenship, etc. ordinary requirements of age, citizenship, etc. A voter must be possessed of an income not less than $200 per annum. This requirement has been liberally construed, yet there is a demand for its abolitition, because of the mixed character of the population of Brezil, the minister believes it would hardly be wiselto have unrestricted suffrage at present, but favors the imposition of the requirement that after a period of four years from the date of adoption of the new constitution voters must at least be able to write their names or read. This he believes would stimulate popular education and cause uneducated people to avail themselves of free schools which already abound in Brazil.

Altogether Dr. Valente takes a most hopeful view of the situation.

STOLEN IN THE STREET. Young Girl Forcibly Seized and Thrust Into a Hack. St. Louis, November 20.-The sensational abduction of a young heiress occurred today.

the attempt being of the most daring and flagrant character. Alice Jackman, a sixteen-year-old miss, was playing in front of the resi-dence of W. H. Brouthers, in whose charge she temporarily was, when six men jumped from a hack, seized her and forcibly carried her away in the very presence of Miss Brouthers and her niece, Miss Myrtle Hunt, a young lady of eighteen.

The ruffians first seized Miss Hunt and dragged her along the pavement to their rig, when one of them looked at her face and said she was not the one they wanted. Miss Jackman was then pounced upon and shoved head forward in the carriage, her abductors driving forward in the carriage, her abductors driving rapidly away. The girl screamed and fought, but to no purpose, and though a dozen people witnessed the struggle, none ventured to interfere. The girl's father died a year or so ago, leaving an estate of $30,000.

The child was then placed in charge of her uncle, Mr. Jonn G. Taylor, of the Richardson Taylor Drug company, who was appointed her guardian. Three months later she ran away on account of alleged cruel treatment. She showed a terrible gash in her head, and her body was badly bruised. The Humane society placed her in the care of Mr. Brouther's, a member of the society, who refused ther's, a member of the society, who refused to deliver the child to her guardian when he demanded her.

It is supposed that the abduction was made at the instance of her guardian, but this is strenuously denied by Mr. Taylor. In the court proceedings which followed the abduction today, Mr. Taylor stated to Judge Woerner that he knew nothing of the whereabouts of the child. Up to a late hour she had not been located. not been located.

When the Smugglers are Brought Up in Court.

Chicago, November 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Montreal says: The gigantic trauds on revenue discovered in Quebec are the sensation of the hour. Customs officials estimate the federal treasury defrauded last year by whisky smugglers at Quebec alone of more than $250,000. Seizures, thus far in this vicinity, much of it contraband whisky, is landed at various riverside parishes all the way up from the gulf, and especially on the islands in the St. Lawrence, where large deposits—in one place alone two hundred barrels—have been seized. The spirits so far seized are principally high priced wines of greater strength than the Canadian standard and supposed to be American manufacture. So far, none have been found in the possession of merchants here, though there is little doubt there are merchants at the bottom of these smuggling operations. Rumor is at present busy with the name of more than one prominent Quebec importing house. Mr. Cornelier, queen's counsel, declares, however, that his instructions are to proceed, irrespective of rank or tions are to proceed, irrespective of rank or politics, and spicy revelations will, doubtless, be forthcoming.

THE NIGHT ALARM.

A Large Hotel Euros—Narrow Escape of Its Guests.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., November 20.—A fire at Raldwinsville last night caused a loss of $250,000. The flames originated in the second story of the Seneca hotel, on the corner of Oswego and Genesee streets, and the entire hotel block, wita two large warehouses adjoining, were destroyed. The flames spread so rapidly that the hotel guests, about forty in number, had to flee for their lives, many of them losing all their clothing and valuables. Landlord Wright, who was sick in bed, was carried down a ladder and had a narrow escape with his life.

Paris, November 20.—A students' association gave a reception at the Sorbonne today to Senor Castelar, the well known Spanish statesman. Jules Simon presided. Eulogistic orations were delivered. Senor Castelar, in a speech, evoked the greatest enthusiasm by his references to the republic, which he said was infallible. He dwelt upon the greatness of sublime faith in an ideal. Columbus, he said, discovered America through faith. If America had not existed God would have made it rise from the waters to recompense such faith.

Berlin. November 20.—The Emin relief expedition committee received a dispatch from Zanzibar, stating that letters from Dr. Peters bearing date of October 5th, reached Lamoo, East Africa. According to letters, the expedition under command of Dr. Peters, was then at Korkorto, and everything proceeding satisfactorily. It is argued by the committee that the receipt of these letters show that the report of the massacre of Dr. Peters and members of the expedition by the natives was untreas

MEMBERS OF THE OLAN-NA-GEAL TESTIFY THAT THEY KNOW NOTHING OF ITS EXISTENCE Female Witnesses for the Defense Put Under Cross-Examination-States At-torney Longenecker on Stand.

CHICAGO, November 20. -Kate McCormick, sister of Mrs. Thomas Whalen, was the first witness for the defense in the Cronin trial to-day. She had known O'Sullivan about seven years. On May 4th he was at her sister's, and after supper went out with Mrs. Whalen, leaving O'Sullivan sitting in the kitchen. Returned with her sister after ten o'clock and was let in by James Niemann. They sat up reading over an hour; then went up to O'Sullivan's room for a cot. O'Sullivan and Mulcahy were in bed; was positive O'Sullivan was there when she went out at 8:30, and was in his room when she got back.

Under a sharp fire of questions, the witness became confused and said that while she was became confused and said that while she was sure she was at O'Sullivan's on Sunday night, the 5th of May, she was not quite sure that she was there on the preceding night, which was the night of the murder. Witness, however, being further questioned, repeated the story of her shopping expedition with her sister on Saturday night, the 4th, and their return to the house, just as she had told it on her direct examination.

Mrs. Tom Whalen was the next witness. She corroborated the testimony just given by her sister as to their doings and O'Sullivan's whereabouts on the night of May 4th and 5th, Witness was asked to give her testimony concerning the New York Herald correspondent, who called on O'Sullivan the day that Dr. Cronin's body was discovered. Clancy, the witness said, came into the house and made some remark about the discovery of Dr. Cronin's body, and said: "I have a cab at the door, and want you to go with me and identify the remains." Mr. O'Sullivan said: "Why should I go with you? I don't know who you are, and never saw you before today. If a police officer comes and asks me to go, I will go with him." The conversation occurred in the middle parlor, and the men were standing during it.

the middle parlor, and the men were standing during it.

The state's attorney cross-examined Mrs. Whalen at great length, and after going over all the details of her testimony again, and learning as to the location of her kitchen windows, suddenly asked: "Is that the window you used to watch the Carlson cottage out of?"

"I object to that," said Forrest. "That assumes that she watched the Carlson cottage?"

Judge Longenecker then modified his que

tion as follows:
"Did you not usually sit at that window and watch the Carlson cottage after the 4th of May?"
"Yes, looking after the curiosities over

"Yes, looking after the curiosities over there," replied the witness."
"Did you not do that daily after the 4th of May?"
"No; I had something else to do."
"Did you not sit there and watch every movement made by the Carlsons and also watch that oottage?"
"No; I had no reason to do it and I did not."

The state's attorney next cross-examined her The state's attorney next cross-examined her as to Clancy's visit and the calls of other men on the day the body was discovered. The witness's answers were sharp and quick and she was evidently chafing under the long cross-examination. There was so much laughter among the audience in consequence of the pitched battle between the witness and the state's attorney that the court was obliged to administer a severe rebuke.

THE WITNESS FOR BURKE.

Martin Burke looked interested as a tall man with black mustache took the witness stand. Witness' name was Matt Danany, saloon keeper, at Clark street and Chicago avenue. On the night of May 4th he came on duty at 7 o'clock and relieved his barkeeper. Martin Burke, P. H. Nolan, financial secretary of camp 20, and Patrick Cooney, were in the sa-Burke, P. H. Nolan, financial secretary of camp 20, and Patrick Cooney, were in the saloon at the time. Martin Burke was in the saloon for about three hours, witness said. William Coughlin and John O'Malley came into the saloon during that time and met Burke On cross-examination the fact was developed that witness was a member of camp 20, having joined from Buffalo camp and had known Burke for a year. Witness denied that he was out riding that night until 11:30 and admitted that he was supplying Burke's meals to him and that he visited Winnipeg some time ago for the purpose of "looking around." He denied that he had ever sent money to Burke at Winnipeg.

He was merely passing through Winningeg on his way to Chicago from the Canadian northwest. He declared his belief in the innocence of Burke, and when questioned as to why he did not inform the state's attorney of the fact that Burke was in the zaloon at the time the murder was committed, replied was atraid it would hurt his basiness to get the notoriety of being mixed up in the matter. Witness admitted he was taking an active interest in the case and was treasurer of the defense fund.

THE INNER CIRCLE.

James Lyman, city contractor and member of the Clan-na-Gael, camp 20, told the story of the meeting of camp February 8th, when the committee was appointed to investigate the charges that the report of the Buffalo trial committee had been prematurely made public in Dr. Cronin's camp. The appointment of the committee was reconsidered and the whole matter referred to District Officer Spellman, of Peoria.

Walter J. Gibson, employe of Marshal, Field & Co., and an ex-member of camp 20, corroborated Lyman, and said he knew of no "inner circle."

Ex-Congressman Finerty, Matthew P. Brady, lawyer, all testified that they had never heard of an inner circle.

The cross-examination of the last witness was as follows:

"Now, this order had what was called an executive board?"

"Yes, sir."

"Yes, sir."
"Yes sir."
"Were you ever permitted to know the names of the executive body?"
"No, sir."
"That was a secret from you?"

"That was a secret from you?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then you don't know whether they had an inner circle or not?"

"No, sir."

John S. Millin, senior guardian of the former Cronin camp, and a member of the order for many years, testified that he had never heard of an inner circle in the order. As senior guardian he knew the names of the executive body and how they were chosen in the national assembly.

State's attorney—"In the convention you were in last summer did they not elect a secret board with a secret ballot, and kept their names secret from the convention?"

"No sir. Each of the divisions presented their candidate—the minority took four and the majority five, and the names were announced on the report of the committee."

Francis P. Gleason, constable, testified that defendant, Begga, was with him at a republican club meeting at the Grand Pacific hotel from about 7 to 9 o'clock on the night of the rourder.

LONGENECKER ON THE STAND.

State's Attorney Longenecker was called as a witness on behalf of Beggs. He objected to taking the stand on the ground that helwas prosecuting the case, but Attorney Foster insisted and gained his point.

Mr. Fosier began questioning Longenecker about the Beggs testimohy before the coroner's and the grand juries, when the court asked his mid the grand juries, when the court asked his purpose.

Mr. Foster: "I mean to show that Beggs voluniarily told the state's attorney, when a witness before the grand jury, about this Cronin correspondence and action of camp 20 in this mister. I propose to show that the first information came from John F. Beggs to Judge Longenecker of the matter being referred to District Officer Spellman. He informed Mr. Longenecker as to what correspondence they ind, and further, through Chief of Police Hubbard, presented to Longenecker correspondence in his own babil. I further offer to prove that after that axamination and in pursuance of what Beggs said under eath Spellman was submined as a witness before the grand jury, and his was interrogated and furnished letters which Beggs had written to him, in pursuance of the voluntary statements of Beggs in this matter, which the state's extorney knew nothing bout.

To court—I think you are entitled to get that before the jury, but I am a little sorry at the method you have pursued in getting it.

Mr. Lonkenecker, on examination, admitted substantially all that Mr. Foster desired to prove, and Chief of Police Hubbard then testified that Beggs, after his arrest, had told him of the letters received from Spellman and where they could be found.

BERLID, November 20.—The Reichzangh has adispatch from Captain Wissmann, dated Mp wapwa, October 13. The dispatch says: "Four of Stanley's men and one of Emin's soldiers have arrived here. They left Stanley and Neukkma on August 10th, and came by way of Noembo Mweirewiese to Ugogo in thirty-three days, including nine days on which they rested. Emin and Casti had 300 Sondances soldiers and many other followers with them. They had in their possession a large quantity of ivory. Stanley had a force of 240 Zanzibaris and was accompanied by his six lieutenants, Nelson, Jephson, Stairs, Parke, Bonny and William. The expedition struck camp as soon as the messengers started. Therefore, the party should reach Mpwapwa by November 20th. Emin and Stanley repeatedly fought and repulsed the Mahdists, capturing Mahdi's grand banaer. A majority of Emin's soldiers refused to follow him southwards, asserting that their way home did not lie in that direction. Emin left two Egyptian officers in charge of the statious. The messengers have no knowledge of Senoussi or of events in Khartoum and Abyssinnia. Captain Wissmann adds that the English missionaries of Kisouke and Mambola needed protection till the fate of Bushiri was decided. Although on good terms with the natives, the missionaries were left unprotected and had to be called inside the German station. Regarding neighboring tribes, Captain Wissmann did not believe that Massia would engage in hostilities, but marauting Wahene, with whom Bushiri possibly had his headquarters, had to be kept in check.

IN THE COURTS.

A Bright and Successful Journalis Dies at Saranac Lake, New York.

Mr. Charles H. Wells, business manager of the Dixie Publishing company and editor of the publication or that name, died yesterday morning at Saranac lake in New York state.

Consumption caused Mr. Wells's death.
And death came, too, before he had reached the prime of life—twenty-nine years only having rolled over his head.

For two years past Mr. Wells's health has been falling him, and realizing the great chances against his recovery he gave up his business interests and devoted his whole time to moving about in search of a climate suited to his condition. In Janolast he went to Saranac lake, and dering the summer months found great relief in the sir through that section of the country. With the fall winds, however, he began to grow worse, and seeing that the end of his life was early approaching, decided to spend the remaining days near his old home. His death was a peaceful, tranquil one, and was met with that asrois fortitined which comes slone from one prepared to meet it.

Though so young in years, Mr. Wells was one of atlanta's most progressive and energetic citizens, and during his life in Georgia did much to induce capitalists and others to turn their faces this way. Nearly his entire life was devoted to journalism, and in the work he was successful beyond the average. He was born in Milford, Pa., about twenty-nine years are, and at the age of sixteen began ning journalistic career. His first work was upon some of the purera about his birthplace, and in a short time he manifested he was intended for the profession. He aco, and at the age of sixteen began his journalistic career. His first work was upon some of the papers about his birthplace, and in a short time he manifested he was intended for the profession. A year for two later he want to New York and secured wo k from the New York Press association. He soou became a fine reporter and before he had attained his majority went to Philadelphis to accept a postition on the Times. Here he again made his mark as a fine reporter and was one of the five news gatherers who caught up with and exposed the extensive grave robbery in the city cemetery. Buring his connection with the Times he became acquaintied with a number of prominent railroad men and capitalists and about six years are came south and wrote up some of the southern industries for his employes. The country pleased Mr. Wells very much, and after discharging his duties he came back to Atlanta to make it his home. After giancing over the field carefully, he and Mr. Douglas a friend whom he had known for years, began the publication of Dixie, a monthly. Everybody conversant with journalistic work predicted a failure, and began watching the publication.

But one of Mr. Wella's chief characteristics was his great courage and indomitable energy. He was a thorough newspaper man, and in a short time the paper was on a paying basis, in '87 his pariner withdiew from the company and Mr. Wella went it alone. The magazine began to prove a decided success and when everything was looking brightest his health began to fail.

In '88 his throat began to trouble him and a careful investigation developed an inclination to coasumption and a valvular hear trouble. His physician advised a change of climate and Mr. Wells was one of the most energetic, reliable newspaper men Atlanta has ever known. He made a decided success of the Dixie, and devoted his entire time to revealing the advantages and resources of the south. In '86 he married Miss Cunningham, of Greenville, South Carolina.

The remains were selipped to his old home, where the fune

THREE CITIZENS GRUMBLE. A Few of the Letters of this Kind Received The people of Atlanta have grievances, and a good many of them.

Every mail brings complaints to The Constitution. There are more of these than the columns of this paper will accommodate.

Here are three from yesterday's batch:

A General Complaint.

ATLANTA, November 20.—Editors Constitution: I am not at all disposed to gramble or find fault, and dislike to appear in print, but human patience and enderance has a limit, and mine has reached that point. The people of Atlanta are a long suffering people, and their representatives in city affairs either do not know or do not care, and do not perform their duties.

The people are being imposed upon in the most shameful and high-handed manner by the gas company, by the telephone company and by the electric light company.

The gas in our homes instead of being a service is positively a nuisance, it is not alone antisance, but it is positively daugerous.

In most residences in the eastern portion of the city, especially, the gas is of no service, whatever. We cannot read by it without hurt to our eyes and we are compelled to resort to the primitive oil lamp and candle.

It has been said that the gas light was only dim in the oniskirts of the city, but this cannot be so because the lights in the stores on Peachtree is not brig.i. to either read or write by. Pass

It has been said that the gas light was only dim in the oniskirts of the city, but this cannot be so because the lights in the stores on Peachtres is not brigit to either read or write by. Pass along Peachtres street any evening after dark, and you can see a business man trying to finish up his day's work by the aid of a candle, notwithstanding the fact that gas pipes and jets are all over his store. This needs no comment.

In a great many homes it is the custom to leave the gas burning low in the halls and rooms. After a while the current gets so weak that it will not support the fame and the light goes out. In a short time it strengthens again and, as the jet is turned on, the gas escapes while the innocent inmates are sleeping a sleep that may be their last.

Can the people of Atlanta submit to this any longer? Will they not demand their rights analistand firm until they get them?

It is scarcely necessary to say anything in condemnation of the present telephone system. Enough somplaint has been made siready, but it does not seem to have the least effect. Complaint is general, and it is putting it rather mildly to say that the system as it is now managed is an unmitigated nuisance.

The streets are not half lighted at night. As Cap Joyner very forcibly remarks, where there should be thirty two candle power, there is not two candle power, and I might add, in a great many pisces there is no candle power at ail. Any night, if you will notice, you can readily count a dozen are lights not burning at all.

Where is the remedy for all this, and so whom are we to look for redress? If must be somebody's business. Let our mayor, who is always ready to help take hold of the matter and puts it until we have an improvement.

If I were the only one who suffered I would be slow to complain, but unfortunately it is all the people without exception, and I am sure I am but voicing their sentiments when I say that we are being imposed upon by high-handed monopolies. Let us chain these monators before they become our masters in gerous.

Apologizing for trespassing so much on your space, and trusting that your columns are now, as ever, ready for the cry of distress and oppression.

Yours very respectfully,
BARLOW F. JOHER.

Give Us Rapid Transit.

Give Us Rapid Transit.

Epyrons Constitution: Does it not seem a little strange that for eighteen months or more the Metropolitan company's heavy dummy trains have been habitually run at a speed of ten to twenty miles an hour, knocking people off the track wrecking wagons, and in one instance leaving the track and crashing through a bouse, all of which has been faithfully reported in these columns and freely protested against by your correspondents, yet never a six mile-an-hour ordinance was found, and never a slow transit order went to the police untilsthe rapid, light, easily controlled and aesthetic esteric car begun to make heavy introads into the revenues of the horse car companies. Your correspondent sees an ablabelied colored citizen in this woodpile.

Mayor Gionn has added nothing to his reputation as a high and mighty reformer by the resurrection of this ordinance, the enforcement of which in the year 1989 is as inconstructs and Massachusetts under the "blue laws" of those states. The homo cars on the budest and most crowded thoroughfare in America.—Broadway, New York—would come under the ban of this postiferons ordinance, for they run saven miles an hour.

The mule lines make schedules of about five miles an hour, a faster schedule is impossible; no what becomes of all this talk of rapid transit! In the light of this precious a dinance it is a delusion and a snare.

The people demand rapid transit. Atlanta needs it. The electric car companies have invested their money to supply it. They have carned an advantage. To deprive them of it, by restricting them loths nute time, is not fallents, November 20, 1889.

COMMISSIONER HENDERSON

BAS A WORD TO SAY ABOUT THE RE-DUCTION OF INSPECTION FEES.

He Thicks the Law a Good One and One That Should Have Been Adopted Years Ago—His Reasons as He Puts Them.

Judge Henderson, the commissioner of agri-culture, is one man, at least, who is pleased with the work of the last legislature. with the work of the last legislature.

He is particularly pleased with the new law that reduces the inspection fees on fertilizers from fifty cents to ten cents a ton.

"That," said he yesterday, "has been a pet idea of mine since, or almost since, my advent into office. I think it was within twelve months after my appointment, or, at least, as soon as I had a clear understanding of things, soon as I had a clear understanding of mings.

I urged, in one of my biennial reports to Governor Colquitt, the propriety of a reduction of the fees. I think I advised the reduction then to twentyfive cents. It seems it was a sort of prescience I knew, after inspections became so heavy, that it was a mere question of time befor the people, the farmers, would wake up to the injustice of their paying so much money into the treasury beyond the legitimate expense of the inspection. The farmers were poor, and they were contributing of their hard earnings to the education of the children of bankers lawyers, merchants, etc., all of whom were swimming when compared to themselver came into office directly from the field, and I knew what a desperate struggle it was to make

"I see from this report that you present the question under three different conditions: the question under three different conditions: the first nine and one-half cents, the second eleven cents, and, lastly, thirteen cents, as the cost per ton for inspection. Which of the three, in your judgment, was the nearest ap-proximation to the amount that should be

"Well, I do not think the general assembly was far wrong when they settled upon ten cents per ton, but had I been consulted I think I would have made it a fraction higher. As it stands now it may raise an amount that will be adequate to meet the demands that will be made upon it, but I think it is rather too close a skin. All that should be raised, to be sure, is just enough to cover all expenses of inspection, but the amount heretofore inspected has been fluctuating. Now, suppose this should be an off year, it would put the department in an unpleasant it would put the department in an unpleasant dilemma. I can see no necessity for crippling things and making everybody unhappy, particularly when all of us had labored to effect the reduction, and perhaps I more than any other human being. Let us imagine the converse of the supposition to be true, that is that a few thousand dollars in excess of the cost of inspection, the department would move on swimmingly and the small overplus could have easily been devoted to some purpose—the experimental farm, for instance, which itself is entirely in the interest of the agricultural classes."

"What. will be the effect upon the in-"What. will be the effect upon the inspectors?"
"It is a little disheartening to them. As a general rule they are men of very limited means, and as revenue will come in very slow under the changed state of conditions of things, they will be under the necessity of drawing upon their private purses at least for the first few months of the season and probably a month or such a matter in the winding up of the season. This I don't think ought to be. But then confidence is reposed in the wisdom and fairness of the general assembly, and the inspectors hope for an early amendment of the law, so that public servants will not have to draw upon their private funds in order to get the ultimate reward of their labors. I will say this much: the bill was passed just at the heel of the session when everything and everybody was in confusion, hence other amendments to the law made necessary by this were overlooked."

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY

An Aceldent-Trials in the Criminal Court-The Waterworks Question.

ALBANY, Ga., November 20.—[Special.]— John Jackson, on the Cox place, in Lee county, had bis hand terribly crushed in a cane mill today. He was brought to Dr. W.

A. Strother for a surgical treatment.

There was a number of offenders tried before his honor, Mayor McIntosh, at the city court today. John Wesley, who fired his popper off near the river, was fined for disorderly con-near the river, was fined for disorderly conduct and bound over to the county court for carrying concealed weapons. Ira Stark, Riley Larver, and Weldon, white, were found guilty of similar offenses. Eight other evil doers were convicted of minor crimes.

About two hundred citizens responded to a call for a mass meeting to discuss the waterworks last night. Some enthusiastic speeches were made, and it was unanimously decided to submit the question of the city's owning a system of waterworks to a vote of the people.

From One of the "Chopped Off." TAYLORSVILLE, Ga., Nov. 19, 1889 .- Editors Constitution: Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words in regard to the change lately made in the United States marshal's office for the northern district of Georgia. In your issue of the 16th Instant, in giving an account of the proceedings of the night before, when Captain John W. Nelms, United States marshal, went out of office and Mr. A. E. Buck went in, you say "the party line was not drawn," etc.
Now, I agree fully with you that on that occasion no party issues were made. But on the following day when Mr. Buck the newly made marshal as-day when Mr. Buck, the newly made marshal, assumed the duties of said office, then it was that the party line was drawn and those who used a "D" in spelling their politics were not long in finding that their services were no longer needed.

If I remember correctly, four years ago, when Captain John W. Nelms was made marshal, he re-Capitain John W. Neims was made marshal, he re-tained Mr. Bryant's entire corps of deputies, some of them throughout his entire term of office and others until they could win! up their unfinished business, notwithstanding the fact that he differed with many of them politically. It was rumored about the marshal's office several days prior to the coming in of Mr. Buck that he would retain all of Capitain Nelms's deputies and that there would be no changes made before January first. Wishing to find out the facts concerning this rumor, and hav-Captain Nelm's deputies and that there would be no changes made before January first. Wishing to find out the facts concerning this rumor, and having only a few moments to catch the train on which I was to return home, I stepped into Mr. Buck's office and asked him whether or not such reports were true. His reply was that a list of his deputies could be found in the marshal's office with Mr. O. E. Mitchell. Upon examining said list I found that Mr. Buck had erased therefrom the following names, towlt: J. A. Suggs, G. D. Tanksley, J. E. Stephens, J. E. Findley, J. J. Rowe, A. H. Upshaw, A. C. Godfrey, C. S. Kellett and C. H. Cunyus. Now, Mr. Editor, all of the abovenamed ex-deputies are outspoken true-blue democrats, and I defy Mr. Buck to name a single man retained by him who has made a better record than some of the above-named who have been excluded on account of their politics.

If he gives as his reason for not retaining them their inefficiency, then I refute that by referring you to the books kept by Mr. Mitchell which will show the cartnings of some of the above to exceed many of those re ained by him. Mr. Upshaw informs me that by hard work and exposure he has, within the last few weeks, come into possession of about twenty warrants, so you see these warrants will be extracted from the pockets of this man who has worked so faithfully to procure them and will be put into the hands of the republican deputy who will make his hundreds of dollars by the "rascal" being turned out.

Now, Mr. Editor, I don' mean that all of those who are retained by Mr. Buck are republicans of the deepest hue. Some of them claim to be independents, while others say they are not politicians at all, but my word for it, after they are allowed to suck the radical teat of Mr. Buck until January 1st and don't get fully into the ranks, then you are going to hear something drop. Then after the drop Mr. Buck might be heard

I'll pull you off and give you a job,
And then you'll learn some sense.

But keep that a secret; Don't nobody tell; And we'll run the blame government Even if we run it to hell.

In conclusion I will say that I have never made application to Mr. Buck nor to any other republi-can for office, and right here let me say that there is nothing that could possibly induce me to serve unnothing that could possess in the second sec

What Is Catarrh

Catarrh is an inflammation of the mucous branes, and may affect the head, throat, stomach, bowels or bladder. But extarrh of the head is the most common, often coming on so gradually that it has a firm hold before the nature of the trouble is suspected. Catarrh is caused by a cold, or successions of colds, combined with impure blood. Its local symptoms are fullness and heat in the forehead, dryness in the nose and back part of the throat, and a disagreeable discharge from the nose. When the disease gains a firm hold and becomes chroule, it is being liable to develop into consumption. The eyes become inflamed and red, there is throbbing in the temples, ringing noises in the ears, headache, capricious appetite, and sometimes loss of sense of smell and hearing. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this eyer increasing malady. It attacks at once the source of the disease by purifying and enriehing the blood, which, as it reaches the delicate passages of the muccus membrane soothes and rebuilds the tissues, giving them tendency to health instead of disease, and ultimately curing the affection. At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up the whole system and makes one feel as if made anew.

The order to dismiss the dummy line from the hands of the temporary receiver has been drawn up and now awaits the signature of Judge Gustin. He will sign the order as soon as the representatives of the road present a saitable bond of $3.600 to secure the payment of the contested claims. Judge Gustin has been so busily engaged all day on the cases of Hardeman vs. English & Guguenin that he could give the dummy line matter no consideration. As soon as the order is signed the work of reorganization will commence, but it is possible that Mr. Hickop will have to return to New York ere the organization can be effected. It is still public impression that Mr. George F. At the meeting of the city council last week, Alderman Cox, chairman of the finance committee, introduced a resolution, which was passed, that the $8,000 in the treasury received from the bondsmen of Ex-treasurer O. F. Adams, be applied to this year's indebtedness due the bond commission by the city of Macon. Members of the bond commission thought that the amount should have been applied to the past indebtedness of about $32,000 and not to this year's account. At the meeting of council indebtedness of about $32,000 and not to this year's account. At the meeting of council last night, Alderman Cox asked permission to withdraw the resolution of last week, and the request was granted. It is understood that the $8,000 will not be applied to the bond account, but will be used in meeting current expenses of the closing year. In the meantime, the suit of the bond commission against the city for about $32,000 is awaited with interest. It is said that one of the positions to be taken by the defendants is, that the bond commission, the servants of the that the bond commission, the servants of the city, cannot sue the city.

Convicted of Election Frand.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., November 20.—The following was received from Washington last night: The attorney-general is informed that the trial of cases of alleged frauds in Florida at the last presidential election has already resulted in three convictions. No conviction has so far been secured in the United States court in Florida. Only one election case has come to trial, and in that the accused pleaded guilty to two indictments. Sentence has not yet been passed. The grand jury has brought in a large number of indictments, upon which nearly thirty arrests have so far been made, the accused furnishing ball in every instance. The case now on trial, that of J. W. Ewan, of Dade county, is based on charges of violation of United States election laws in . 1836, when ex-Congressman Dougherty soured a re-alection in the second district. Convicted of Election Fraud.

A BRIDEGROOM ARRESTED HE CONFESSES TO HAVING ROBBED

THE SOUTHERN EXPRESS. After He Found That He Could Not Raise the Money He Resorted to Thieving in Order to Enable Him to Get Married.

On the morning of the 24th of October, Mr. Thigpen, express agent at Wadley, on the Central railroad, discovered that a package containing $300, that had been expressed to that office from Savannah, had been stolen out of a drawer in his office. The money had been received the day before and at night, as there was no safe at that place, the money was carried backward and forward to Mr. Thigpen's house by Mr. W. D. Cloud, who was employed by and boarded with Mr.

After spending a day or two the young man returned, and on Sunday last he persuaded Miss May Dukes, the daughter of a respectable gentleman of Wadley, to run away with him.

The girl was only fifteen years old, and the parents of the girl were very much opposed to the match. But Mr. Cloud and Miss May were determined to be married, and they went to the house off Squire Moxley, lat Bethwent to the house off Squire Moxley, lat Beth-any, and were united. Arriving in the city they went to the house of the groom's father, Dr. W. B. Cloud, corner of Spring and Mills street, to spend their honeymoon.

The Southern Express company, suspecting young Cloud, put the case in the hands of Detective G. W. Shackleford to investigate. The detective located him yesterday morning and found where young Cloud had bought a set of furniture from Rhodes, on Decatur street, and where he had spent a lot of money, more than he had earned.

A TERRIBLE DEATH.

The Horrible Mangling of a Young Rail roader's Body.

The coroner's jury failed to flud a verdict, and the case was continued until today.

His mother lives at No. 28 Luckie street, and one of his brothers is a railroad man. The other is a small child, that will suffer his loss severely.

Because his brains were left on the track, the jury decided that there might be some foul play.

The jury will make a further investigation today, and the verdict will be given in accordance.

Young Englett has only been connected with the road for a few days.

Mr. Englett's funeral will take place at Payne's chapel church on Luckie street, at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Jos. Lake, Brockway Centre, Mich., writes: "Liver complaint and indigestion made my life a burden and came near ending my existence. For more than four years I suffered untold agony. I was reduced almost to a skeleton, and hardly had strength to drag myself about. All kinds of food distressed me, and only the most delicate could be digested at all. Within the time mentioned several physicians treated me without giving relief. A NEW SOAP FACTORY

Application to Enlarge Its Capital

Stock and Make More Soap.

From $15,000 to $65,000.

That's the jump an Allanta soap factory propose to make. The Bell Soap company, through its attorneys, Messrs. Colville & Brandon, filed an application for this and other changes in their charter yesterday.

Fifty or seventy-five per cent. of the capitol stock is to be paid in, the remainder to be paid by the profits of the first year or year and a half. Gentle profits of the first year or year and a half. Gentlemen interested claim that arrangements have been made already to sell all the soap they can manufacture. A new factory is to be built, and a daily output of three hundred boxes had. The estimated net profit per box is thirty to sixty per cent. This company can sell to Atanta merchants fifteen per cent less than other companies can sell to them, owing to the saving of freight rates.

Atlanta, the soap meu say, is the best point in Georgia for making soap, and they pr pose to use all its advantages. The cotton seed of mills are here at hand, the turpentine is as cheap here as in the piney woods, the freight rates are low, and freight shipments made better from here than from any other point in the state. Among toe stockholders are the Bell Soap company, Messra, S. M. Inman, James R. Wylie, J. C. Hailman, Duncan & Camp, J. O. Wynn, U. B. Wilkinson, J. R. Wilkinson, and others. Subscription lists may be found at the office of Mr. J. R. Wylie, Traders' bank building, Hightower & Hailman, Duncan & Camp, Bell Soap company, and at the office of Colville & Brandon.

Mr. M. S. Merritt, an old citizen of Atlanta, died yesterday morning very suddenly. Mr. Merritt has long been one of Atlanta's most falthful and energette citizens, and in works of charity he was ever foremost.

He was the faithful coadjutor of Mr. John F. Bardley in the work of establishing the noble institution known as "Our Sunday School."

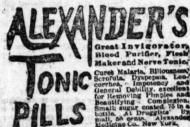

Mr. Merritt left a devoted wife and several children, to whom the many friends and acquaintances of the family extend sincerest sympathics.

CHARLESTON, S. C., November 20.—[Special.] The mysterious steamer with the ocean cable, which was expected to land here today, failed to materialize. A fleet of tup boats and pilots were out at sea during the day looking for the visitor, but nothing showed up. No definite news can be obtained about the matter. The impression prevails, however, that the Commercial Cable company will start their cable here and lay it to Hayti. Think of it. Try and resitive what it means. It is one crgan finished every week since Noah built

Do you suppose it would be possible, with a sufficient number of men, to build a fine Reed Organ all compite in seven hours? No doubt it would, but it would certainly require a large force of skilled men to do it. Now, if the Estey Organ company had taken so long a time as seven hours they would have had to begun before Columbus discovered America in order to complete 200,000 organs in 1888. They have actually been building their famous Reed Organs forty years, averaging about one organ in thirty-five minutes. And not building them only. They have sold them. •

No other organ can show such sales. What does it prove? Simply that the ESTEY Organ is the favorite, that it is the best value for the money invested, that it has been the choice with the majority of persons who have purchased organs.

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., NOVEMBER 21, 1889.

This is Serious. We must keep an eye on the socialists. Red flags lead to red blood, and socialistic speeches are the prelude to dynamite bombs. So long as the socialists are scattered and badly organized they do not amount to much, but when we find them among the police and the military it is a very different thing. The drift of socialism indicates danger. In New York, the other day, Police Sergeant Tims, in a speech over the grave of a comrade, intimated that the police force was full of socialists. The Herald interviewed the officer, and he boldly denounced all millionaires as thieves, and said that he could easily name fifty policemen who held the same views. The redoubtable Tims

You know every thinking man is a socialist, and there are a great many thinking and intelligent men on the force. I could give you the names of fifty police officials from memory who are in full sympathy with the socialists,

If a man acquires a million or more it is the fruit of unremunerated labor. That is robbery.

You and I will yet see the triumph of my principles. The revolution is sure to come in the nea future. Whether it will be an unbloody revolution like that in Brazil I am not prepared to discus now. It largely depends on the conduct of the holders of large fortunes, who will be called upon for a just distribution of the products of labor. After this we are not surprised to learn that the authorities propose to find out how many Timses there are on the force. With a socialistic police-fellows who are longing for the uprising predicted by this outspoken sergeant-a big city would be in s very bad fix during a red flag flurry.

But the New Yorkers must not draw the line at the police. The military companies should be investigated. It is pure folly to arm revolutionists with clubs and guns, and such public enemies should be weeded out or disbanded.

Nor should good citizens stop here. It is not good policy for a man of business to give employment to a man who regards him as a thief and wants to strip him of his property in order to distribute it among the masses. There is no sense in feeding these outlaws, arming them and protecting them until they are strong enough to cut the throats of their benefactors. When these men see nothing before them but starvation or the prison they will quit talking socialism, go to work and obey the laws.

The Ohio Mystery.

There is still a mystery hovering over and surrounding the forged document that proved to be such a boomerang in the hands of the republican politicians of Ohio. It is a mystery that deepens and thickens the more it is studied.

It is fair to say that Mr. Halstead, who exploded the bombshell, is not concerned in the mystery. He was imposed on, and he acknowledged the fact as soon as he found it out. In fact, he is the only republican in the state that had the manliness to make such an acknowledgment until pr to the wall by a libel suit. Mr. Halstead has fully explained his own attitude in the matter, and has fully washed his hands of

But there is a feeling in Ohio and else where in the country that all of the facts have not been brought out—there is a suspicion that there is still some interesting information held back by the gentleman in whose possession the forged document was first found. In fine, It is supposed that Mr. J. B. Foraker has a story that would be startling if he could be induced to tell it.

The mystery that puzzles the public grows naturally out of the tangle in which the matter is left: In the first place, Mr. Campbell's name was not the only one that was forged. The names of Sherman, Mc-Kinley and Butterworth appear on the document. It is a little singular that this fact should not have added vastly to the importance of the matter in the eyes of Foraker, who had the document in his possession for some time before he mentioned the matter to Halstead. With the names of these three distinguished republicans on the document, why was it that Foraker did not lay the matter before them?

There is no evidence that either Haktead or Foraker for one moment questioned the genuineness of the signatures, and this adds to the mystery, for, in order to believe that the signatures were genuine, both Halstead and Foraker were compelled to believe that Sherman, McKinley and Butterworth were corrupt jobbers. As a measure of their confidence in their distinguished party associates, this fact is illuminating, but it is not calculated to solace Messrs. Sherman, McKinley and Butterworth.

Foraker told Halstead that the document ould not be used at all, and his whole conversation left the impression that he implicitly believed in the genuineness of all the signatures. In spite of all this, however, we find him, a fortnight after his talk with Halstead, sending the dangerous document to the latter by special messenger, instead of sending it to Sherman or Mc-

Then the explosion came, and with it the exposure of the forgery. With it also came the demoralization of the republican party in Ohio and the defeat of Foraker. Mr. Halstead, fully appreciating the yawning depths of the hole into which he was d, is of the opinion that Campbell trapped, is of the opinion that Campbell himself had the forgery concocted for the purpose of rulning Foraker, but this would Mr. Campbell is only a plain Ohio demoerat after all. This theory will not do at

The New York Sun, on the other hand. suggests that Forsker himself is the Me-phisto at the bottom of this disreputable business. The Sun argues that when Foraker sent the document to Halstead, after saying that it could not be used, it was with the hope that the blunt editor, in a burst of righteous indignation, would make the exposure complete, and thus involve Sherman, whom Foraker regards as his great rival. The Sun's theory is at least plausible.

After all Editor Halstead's explanations the forgery business is still a pretty mess. Cotton Prospects.

In reply to inquiries referring to the productiveness of the cotton plant and to the character of the weather the New York Chronicle has received replies covering the month of October.

In one respect the returns are of an most uniformly favorable tenor. The weather has been very satisfactory for field work up to the last days of the month, and as a consequence the work of gathering thecrop has made excellent headway. In fact, o rapid has been the progress in many localities that some farmers, where the crop was excellent, report as much as seventy per cent of their cotton already picked. At the same time, as every effort has been exerted to secure the staple during the dry weather, marketing has not been so free as expected

The plant has also made quite good proress in development in the southwest, and in portions of the gulf states and Georgia during the month; but elsewhere growth was checked by the killing frosts which occurred during the period from October 7th to 9th. On the comparative productiveness of the plant the returns vary widely, but a careful analysis of them warrants the conclusion that in Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama and Georgia the outturn will be greater than last year, while from Tennessee, the Carolinas, Virginia and Florida less cotton will be received.

· Among the Old Colonels.

When General Reuben Davis gave to the public his racy book, "Recollections of Mississippi," it never occurred to him that the anecdotes and reminiscences which afforded him so much pleasure would excite consternation and horror among his New England readers.

Such, however, is undoubtedly the case. The editor of the Springfield, Massachusetts, Republican, a typical New Englander of the Brahmin caste, has read the book, and has been in such a state of mind ever since that he finds it impossible to do his subject justice. General Davis's account of a personal difficulty he once had with a judge who had fined him for contempt, made such an impression upon our New England journalist that he gives it in full, as follows: My patience gave way and I felt myself in a per-fect blaze of sudden fury. I had in my pocket a very fine knife with a long thin blade. As I sprang to my feet I drew out this knife, opened it, and threw & point foremost into the bar, looking steadily at the judge all the while. My object was to induce the judge to order me to jall, and then to attack him on the beuch. The knife vibrated, and the weight of the handle broke the blade near the mid dle. General S. J. Gholson and several others ran upon the bench beside the judge, ordered the sheriff to adjourn the court and carried the judge out of the court room, while a number of persons seized me. . Judge Howry being withdrawn, prudent men among my personal friends condemned my action and appealed to me to let the matter stop. I agreed to this In-tending to pass straight to my hotel, I saw Judge Howry come forward to-ward the place where I was standing. I awaited his approach and when close to me asked him if he had intended by his fine to insult me. He said "No." I then said I had been guilty of no offense to justify such an indignity and requested some ex-planation. He replied, "I do not, sir, explain my official conduct to any man." In a moment I had slapped him in the face with my open hand. By some accident a claw hammer had been left on the floor near by: he seized this and struck at me violently, while I got from my pocket the broken knife and opened it. The blow of his hammer fell upon my head, cutting through my hat and severa es of papers to the bone. I made another stroke at his jugular with the corner of my knife blade This blow fell upon his jaw and I seized him with This blow fell upon his jaw and I seized him with my left hand by the collar and pushed my head He struck again with his hammer breaking and depressing the outer plate of my skull bone, but not until I had inflicted three more cuts upon his jaw. As we were pulled apart he gave me the third blow. I went to my room and

ent the judge a message not to leave his room un

collar well drawn up, to hide the tokens of combat on his person. I did not meet Judge Howry for seven years after this affair. I had gone to Pontotoc to attend the federal court and was sitting in a room with Roger Barton and Chancellor Cha when Chalmers was sent for from below. He soon returned and said to me: "I suppose, Davis, you care nothing now about that affair between you and Judge Howry?" I promptly replied that I thought nothing of it; that Howry was a gentleman, and that our difficulty was casual and without malice. Chalmers then said that Howry was below, malice. Chalmers then said that Howry was below, and would be glad to come up to Barton's room. He did so, and I met him at the door, and we greeted each other in the most cordial manner. Until his death, no two men could be more sincerely iriendly than we continued to be. I shall always believe that he went down to his grave without finding out what led to our quarrel that day, and I am perfectly certain that I shall go down to mine in equal ignorance, unless he comes back to tell me.

Our reviewer grimly asks if anything could be more delicious than this, and remarks that it will never be surpassed as a picture of southern customs and the administration of law.

But the mild New England editor met with equally startling matters all through the book. In one chapter he found a tribute to the Mississippi legislature of fifty years ago. Suddenly he came upon this paragraph:

paragraph:

The state could not have furnished an abler body of men. Every citizen was at that time proud of his state and would leave congress to serve in her legislature. Men were men in that day and time, and could both work and play. In the intervals of labor they took their pleasure freely. It was far on in the depth of a winter night when I was wakened by a confision of counds in the state. in the depth of a winter night when I was wakened by a confusion of sounds in the street, music predominating. I threw open a window and beheld a long line of weil-dressed gentlemen proceeding in single file down the middle of the street and loudly single git the then popular melody of "Buffalo Bull Came Down the Mendow." It was the legislature of Misst sippi industing in an airing, after having spent an evening in the worship of Bacchus.

At this point the reader evidently threw aside the general's "Recollections," for he made no further extracts, and his comment are confined to a few incoherent words, such as a deeply aggrieved prohibitionist and member of the American Peace society would naturally write under the circum-

And yet, notwithstanding the astonish ment and holy horror of the spectacled critic of the Republican and his readers, we make bold to say that General Reuben Davis and his comrades—the Quitmans, Davises, Prentisses, McClungs, Sharkeys, Yergers, Ragsdales, and others—were as thorough gentlemen and as knightly a set of men as gentlemen and as knightly a set of men as ever met on the dueling ground, or in the ball room, or rode to the front of battle. It must be borne in mind that General Dayls was writing of the social conditions of a frontier state half a century ago. He was describing life among "the old colonels," so to speak, and a very picturesque and exciting life he makes it. There is nothing strange about it, when one thinks the matter over. Just previous to that period gentlemen, statesmen and literary men in England thought it all right to get drunk, fight duels, and redress their own wrongs by force. They lived up to their social code, just as the jolly but highspirited old Mississippi colonels lived up to theirs. When this is said everything is explained. The prim and precise New England critics do not pitch into Lord Brougham and Mr. Canning for drinking and fighting, and they have no more reason for censuring the lively colonels who made hings hum on our frontiers fifty years ago. Social conditions change, and men change with them. The southwest of today is not what it was in the thirties, but it does not follow that the men of the present generation are any better than their predecessors. On the contrary, it would be an easy matter to mention a long and brilliant list of names in the early history of that region that will always be admired by every lover of the bravest and best qualities of manhood. This is the way to look at it.

THE Philadelphia Times of the 18th prints a column and a half story from a contributor who signs himself "H. H. K." A PHILADELPHIA HARDWARE dealer says six pistols are sold in the north to one in the south. It is a fashionable fad among northern people to carry pistols. This is the case even among the women, and boys are very generally given to the habit. But for the natural foonservatism and cold-bloodednes of the northerners this practice of carrying concealed weapons would result in many murders. As it is, the statistics are gory enough.

"In one paragraph there is something about ratification or rejection. I suggest that that word rejection be stricken out."

"Oh, that's all right," said Mr. Hoke Smi th. "the ticket is here for ratification only." Nearly everybody laughed.

"I move," said Mr. John B. Goodwin, "that the report of the committee be received by this committee and that the chairman transmit it to the mass meeting."

The motion prevailed.

"And now 1 move," said Mr.
Goodwin, "that an assessment be laid upon the committee for ten dollars to pay Mr. Charlie Langford for his services as janitor and attendant."

The motion prevailed, and Mr. Goodwin and Mr. W. W. Draper started around with the hats. As the quarters were dropping in, Mr.

The wards then announced the names of the gentlemen for the executive committee and the committee adjourned to appear before the mass meeting.

In the Mass Meeting.

In the Mass Meeting.

The adjournment quickly emptied the city court room and in a body the committee of one hundred descended an inside stairway to the criminal court room.

Nearly six hundred people were upon the floor, but they continued to come in until nearly twice that number were present.

Hon. John Tyler Cooper presided and manifested a complete control of the audience. At times the meeting was wild almost, but with a calmness rarely exercised, Mr. Cooper brought them in. Mr. Flank Haralson, who was the first speaker, was given a terrible deal by the audience, but with wonderful nerve held the floor, saying:

"Persuant to the resolutions passed by the mass meeting convened on last Thursday night, the reveral ward committees met on Sauurday night and were joined by the sommittee of ten from the city at large. The interest of the committeemen in the work in hand was evidenced by the fact that notwithstanding the extreme incheminency of the weather, there were only about three absentees from the full number—one hundred.

The committee thus composed labored long and carnestly, and through me as their chairman, begaleave to submit the following nominations for your miffication, towit:

Your committee did not arrive at these conclusions without difficulty—the claims of many good men were considered and in some instances positive refusals to serve, if nominated, were given to the committee by gentiemen whose names were under consideration. Many gentiemen of excellence and high shanding in the community were buildted for, but only eight could she chosen and many things had to be considered.
Your committee does not claim that its work is pericet, but we have done the best we could. We have gresented only the names of those we honestly befreve to be upright, honest and intelligent citizens, who will, in our opinion, as ely guard the interests of our beloved city, who will be just to all men, who will be conomical in the administration of our finances and who will do all they can to lighten the burdened city, who will be just to all men, who will be conomical in the administration of our finances and who will do all they can to lighten the burdened city, who will be just to all men, who will be conomical in the administration of our finances and who will do all they can to lighten the burdened city, who will they can to lighten the burdened city and the second committee out were unanimously indorsed and we now present their names with our unanimous recommendation that you ratify their selection.

The crowd caught on, and the councilman subsided without waiting for an answer to his question. He didn't say another word during the meeting.

The vote was then had on the motion to table, and the motion was lost.

"They've spoken," said another man. "Sit down."

But Mr. Haralson had no idea of sitting down. He enjoyed the publicity—or seemed to—and spoke for ten or fifteen minutes. It was a queer-cut, wild, ambiguous effort—accent on the ambiguous.

Between Mr. Haralson's patience, on the one hand, and the crowd's impatience on the other, Chairman Cooper had a hard time of it. But Mr. Haralson finally sat down.

MR. Hurrell, of the second, came next.

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow-Citizens," said he, "I'm one of the fellows that got left, and I just want to say that I'm for the ticket. I'm for the nominees from first to last. I think the second ward nominee is especially good. I call on my friends who supported me in the ward meeting, and on the citizens of Atlanta, to support the ticket."

ticket."
There was a little cross firing then between Colonel Goodwin and Mr. Grav. Mr. Goodwin opposed the proposition to consider the nominees separately. Mr. Gray wanted to know the sense of the general committee on that point—if they were willing for their ticket to be analyzed. Colonel Goodwin wasn't authorized to speak, and even if the committee had expressed an opinion on that point they had no more to do with it than any other 100 citizens. They simply recommended the ratification of the ticket.

A Possible Case.

Next Friday will offer to our citizens the gem of the week, a treat that none night to miss. Considered at all the points of view, "A Possible Case" will be a most enjoyable performance. As a play, it is a literary work of rems kable merit, full of ideas and superbly constructed. As a comedy it is witty—even funny, in some parts. As a satire, it to ches our divorce levillation and its consequences, one of the most under spots of our American civilization. When yan add that the production will be staged with full special scenery and properties, and presentes by a company of chosen arists, coming from the union Square theater, under the management of Ar. J. M. Hill, there is surely an ensemble which gu rantees a perfect dramatic representation and a theatrical event. In a few lines the Richmond Times of last week, thus appreciates the play.

KNIGHTS ARE THROUGH AND THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY STANDS ADJOURNED UNTIL 1890.

An Interesting Session With Some Interest-ing Discussions—Mr. Powderly Earns His Salary. The annual convention of the Knights of Labor has adjourned.

When the delegates were called to order yesterday morning it was agreed to hold longer sessions and to make an effort to get through the work that remained by night.

A number of important committees remained to be heard from, and the task which the convention set itself to perform seemed almost an impossibility. By hard work, however, it was accomplished, and shortly after 7 o'clock Mr. Powderly declared the convention adjourned, to meet again at some place yet to be de-

Morning Session.

The report of the committee on appeals and grievances, which was left unfinished Tuesday evening, was the first matter taken up yester day. When it was completed the committees on insurance, corporations and laws made their statements. Each committee had thoroughly investigated the subject intrusted to its care and their reports were thoroughly exhaustive.

The committee on finance were next heard from and several discussions took place over some of the recommendations made. It was agreed after an argument that in future only the actual railway fares of the delegates should be paid instead of the four cents a mile both going and coming, which each member of the convention now receives. It was also agreed that all local assemblies, attached to the general assembly, shall during the coming year pay a quarterly per capita tax of ten cents in-stead of six cents. The report further recommended that the executive board should be empowered to levy an assessment of twenty cents on each member of the order during the year if they found it necessary to raise money for any purpose.

A REDUCTION REQUESTED. The chairman of the finance committee then read a letter from General Master Workman Powderly, in which the treasurer of the order was requested to reduce his salary from $5,000 a year to $3,500. Mr. Powderly stated that the smaller pay was all he required for his needs, and he would prefer to have the difference devoted to some other purpose.

Mr. Powderly's generous other was received with cheers, and several speeches were made thanking Mr. Powderly, and at the same time showing that he fully earned the five thousand a year, and with his traveling expenses and other burdens it would be unjust to accept the proposition. The convention unanimously voted that Mr. Powderly's salary should remain at $5,000 a year.

when the excitement had subsided a resolution was adopted expressing the opinion of the order that the pay of the printers' assistants in the bureau of printing and engraving, in Washington should be increased from $1.25 in washington should be increased from $1.25 to $2 a day.

A resolution was also passed urging congress to make the election day a legal holiday, and suggesting that a fine shall be imposed on every employer who does not recognize it as such

It was after 1 o'clock when the convention took a recess.

Afternoon Session.

As soon as Mr. Powderly called the convention to order a general discussion took place on the educational work which is being done by the order. It was decided to increase the educational feature in every way possible and to distribute leaflet and pamphlet literature through trustworthy members in every locality. The lecturers will also be kept in the field. The chief bookkeeper announced that no extra tax would he needed, as the order is now in such a prosperous condition that, should it not increase by a single new member at the end of the year, $16,000 would be in the treasury after all expenses have been paid.

Mr. Becknine, chairman of the co-operative board, was then elected to take charge of all the co-operative work of the order. He will have charge of all the shops run under the new system, and will also watch all places of business indorsed by the executive board and will see that the Knights' of Labor trade mark is respected. As soon as Mr. Powderly called the conven

Mr. Davis made a report on the mortgaged indebtedness of the country. After giving a vast quantity of statistics he recommended action in the way of making it as easy for the farmers and small property holders to borrow money from the federal government as it is for the national banks to do so.

The legislative committee then reported on The legislative committee then reported on the Canadian legislative committee's report.

The legislative committee then reported on the Canadian legislative committee's report. They indorsed the recommendations suggested by the Canadians, and instructed the executive board to formulate the policy of the order in connection with the convict labor question. The legislative report was the last of the routine business to be performed, and Mr. Powderly announced that a vote would be taken on the next place of meeting. Speeches were made in favor of a number of cities, but after the ballot was taken Toledo, O., Albany, N. Y., and Denver, Col., were found to be in the lead, with Birmingham, Eng., a close fourth. The executive board will make the choice from the three leading cities, but as Toledo had the most votes the next convention will probably be held there.

A resolution was unanimously passed thanking the citizens of Atlanta for their hospitality and the city press for the fairness and acceptability of the reports made of the convension.

ceptability of the reports made of the convention.

MR. POWDERLY'S SPEECH.

When Mr. Powderly arose to make the closing speech of the convention the delegates became perfectly quiet. The general master workman's address was short, but it was probably the finest oratorical effort he has ever made. He pointed out to the delegates what they could do if they put their shoulders to the wheel towards elevating their fellow laborers. He pointed out the improved condition of the order and said that a brilliant and useful future awaited that Knights of Labor if they would use the proper energy and intelligence to secure it. In closings Mr. Powderly stated that this convention was the most profitable and best session ever held, as well as the shortest.

Mr. Powderly then announced the convention adjourned, and for a few moments the walls shock with cheers. When quiet was restored the delegates rose and sang the following verses, which have been adopted as the song of the order:

The Song of the Proletaire, Dedicated to the Wage Workers of the World.

BY TOM. O'REILLY. Base oppressors! cease your slumbers,
Listen to a people's cry;
Hark? united, countless numbers,
Swell the peal of agony.
So from labor's sons and daughters, in the depths of misery,

Like the sound of many waters comes the cry: "We will be free,"
Comes the cry: "We will be free,"
Comes the cry: "We will be free," Tyrants quall! dawn is breaking,
Dawn of fredom's glorious day;
Mammon on his throne is quaking.
Iron bands are giving way.
Statecraft, kingeraft, black oppression cannot bear our scrutiny.
For we've learned the startling lesson, that if we will, we can be free,
That if we will, we can be free,
That if we will, we can be free.

By our own, our children's charts,
By the fire within our veins.
By each truth attesting martyr.
By our tears, our groans and pains,
By our rights by nature given, by the voice of liberty.
We proclaim before high heaven, that we will, we must be free,
That we must, we will be free,
That we must, we will be free. Winds and waves, the tidings carry,
Electra, in your fiery car,
Winged with lightning, do not tarry,
B ar the news to lands afar.
Bid them sound the thrilling story, londer than the thunder's gleam,

Are determined to be free,
Are determined to be free.
After a half hour spent in hand-shaking the
During the evening a rush was made to obin mileage checks, and by tonight scarcely a delegate will remain in Atlanta. Mr. Powderly and the executive board may, however, be de-tained until late tonight or tomorrow to com-plete business which has to be done before they separate.

SOCIETY GOSSIP. .

Mrs. Dickson requests her band of King's Dauguters to meet at her home on Peachtree, this morning at 11 o'clock and hopes they will all come, as the meeting is one of urgent importance. If Mrs. Dickson's band does the good work for the King's Daughters' hospital which it accomblished last season it will deserve the highest praises. For this year, through the money they made from three, entertainments they have been able to pay the entire rent for the building and each one has done many kind and unselfish acts of charity unknown to the public in general. Many a little girl among the working classes has been warmly clothed all the winter through the thought of one of the King's lovely daughters, and many had a bright Christmas through the same sweet source. The foundation of the hospital itself is one of the noblest and bravest charities ever organized.

The King's Daughters started their work without any assistance from the city and without begging a cent of money from the people. They worked with a will themselves and their reward has been the knowledge of having founded a hospital complete in all its argenerate and a creation to be sick beside.

express enthusiastic gratitude for the nursing and attention they have received.

A charity of this kind calls for constant effort on the part of its workers, and, after all, what does any sort of Christianity mean save a constant effort—a daily working for good? A number of propositions have been made for sustaining the work during the coming year and those who have already worked so nobly will not be lacking in zeal for the future, and when they do work they will always find many to encourage and assist them. There is no true hearted man in Atlanta who is not willing to give his hardest earned money to such a noble cause, and all of them who have wives or sweethearts among the King's Daughters are proud of it and glad to help in any way they can. The cause is one which appeals to every one, and since there is no city hospital, the necessity for this one is so urgent that it must be sustained. Women are at the foundation of all good works, and so some day will the girls and matrons of Atlanta be able to look with pride to a splendid city hospital, with the knowledge that they were the cause of its beginning by gathering together and renting the modest building on Pryor street.

Tonight at eight oclock promptly the curtain will roll up at Mrs. Rhode Hill's little theater, so that those going to the reception given by Mrs. Sam Inman will be enabled to attend the charming little play first. The programme promised is indeed attractive. The banjo club, or some of its members will constitute to the enicompant of the members, will contribute to the enjoyment of the evening. The phonograph will also amuse and charm the audience by its comical recitations and delightful musical selections. Mrs. Hill, while urg-ing in charity's name that all should come, prom-

A quiet but happy marriage was that of Miss Lillie Bohnefeld to Mr. John Zimmermann iast night, at the residence of the bride's father, No. 20 Courtland avenue. The ceremony was performed in beautifully decorated, spacious parlors by the Rev. Dr. Klerner, of the German Lutheran church, in the presence of a few intimate friends and relations, in a most impressive manner. After the ceremony a delightful supper was enjoyed by the guests, during which pleasant conversation was indulged in. In the drawing room many beautiful, useful and ornamental presents were displayed. userul and ornamental presents were displayed. The bride is a beautiful and fascinating young lady, who is well known in the city, and last night looked a picture of loveliness in a gown of pure white silk. The groom is a young man of sterling worth, who has been with Eisas, May & Co. for several years.

Mrs. Marion Spence has returned from St. Louis bringing as her quest har sister. Miss Frank eful and ornamental presents were displayed Oxford, Ga., November 20.—[Special.]—Last Monday evening the ladies of the Oxford Woman's Christian Temperance union tendered the senior class of Emory a reception at the residence of Dr. Candler. Eighteen or twenty couples were present, and the evening was spent enjoyably by all. Temperance readings were made by Miss Alice Moore and Messra, J. B. Clemants, J. T. Daves, O. L. Kelley and E. M. Landrum, Impromptu specches were cafled for and ressonded to by J. T. Daves, O. L. Kelley, W. L. Abbott and G. W. W. Stune, Jr. The crowd parted highly pleased and grateful to Dr. and Mrs. Candler for their kind hospitality. pitality.

A most interesting marriage occurred at the esidence of Rev. Virgil Norcross, West End, yesterday evening.

It was not exactly a runaway match, but it was so near it that the friends of the young people were forced to conspire to make it possible.

Mr. J. E. Robinson, of the Corbin Banking company, New York, went down to Stone Mountain yesterday morning and brought back with him Miss Janie Campbell, the daughter of one of the most prominent gentlemen of that town.

back with him Miss Janie Campbell, the daughter of one of the most prominent gentlemen of that town.

Miss Lily Robinson accompanied her brother, and when the pair arrived in Atlanta there were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Meyers, and others, present, to accompany them to West End, where the ceremony was performed.

The happy pair will reside at the elegant home prepared by the groom, No. 106 Frazier street.

The reception at the house of Mr. Robinson's father, Mr. J. R. Robinson, 141 Crew street, was elegant, and was a fine office to the trouble that the young folks had gone through with in their romantic wedding.

A Middle-Aged Man Dies in the Station-house Yesterday.

Yesterday morning a few minutes before four o'clock Patrolmen Whatley and Lawshe found a man asleep in a statiway on Marietta street.

The man was carried to the stationhouse, and was locked up on the charge of being drunk and asleep on the street. He was brought to the stationhouse in the Elack Maria, and the jaultor had to carry him to theyell.

When Officer Anderson came to carry him to the recorder's court, be was found dead, lying on his face in the cell.

He was identified as R. A. Humphries, a car cleaner, employed by the Pollman Palace Car company at the Richmond and Danville yards.

It was proven that he was not a man addicted to driak, and Mr. C. C. Hawley, who employed Mr. Humphries, testified to the dead man's having left him about half past four o'clock Tuesday evening complaining of a pain in his breast.

Mr. Hawley and others, who were Mr. Humphries's superiors, stated that the man was not a drunkard, They were all surprised at his andden death, Mr. Humphries lived with his wife and twelveycar-old daughter at No. 15 Lovejov street. He has an oluer son living in Dallas, Texas, who has been notified of his sudden taking off.

The verdict of the jury was that Mr. Humphries came to his death from natural causes, and that no-body was to blame in the matural causes, and that no-body was to blame in the matural causes, and to the surprised and the surprised and the surprised and the surprised are to his death from natural causes, and that no-body was to blame in the matural causes, and to the surprised and the surprised at his and the surpri

Chief Joyner Finds That the Laws Are Being Complied With. Chief Joyner has finished his annual inspec-Assisted by Foreman Jake Emmel, Tom Haney W. H. Clowe, John Watters, Henry Haney and Assistant Foreman W. B. Cummings, the chief has for several days been making the annual inspection of buildings in the business part of the city.

Beginning at the cellars each house was thoroughly examined, and notes were made of those where the fire ordinances were not strictly complied with. Chief Joyner reports that he found a vast improvement over the condition of the buildings at last year's inspection. He attributes the small number of fires to the way the laws are obeyed. Out of all the buildings examined the following are the violations found:

BAKING POWDERS

Dumplings with Royal Baking Powder No dessert is more delicious, wholesome

No dessert is more delicious, wholesome and appetizing than a well-made dumpling, filled with the fruit of the seasor. By the use of the Royal Baking Powder the crust is always rendered light, flaky, tender and digestible. Dumplings made with it, baked or boiled, will be dainty and wholesome, and may be eaten steaming hot with perfect impunity.

RECEIFT.—One quart of four; thoroughly mix with it three teaspoons of Royal Baking Powder and a small teaspoon of salt; rub in a piece of butter or lard the size of an egg, and then add one large potato, grated in the flour; after the butter is well mixed, stir in milk and knead to the consistency of soft biscuit dough; break off pieces of dough large enough to close over four quarters of an apple (or other fruit as desired) without rolling, and lay in an earthen dish (or steamer) and steam until the fruit is tender. Bake if preferred.

In all receipts calling for cream of tartar

In all receipts calling for cream of tartar and soda, substitute Royal Baking Powder. Less trouble, never fails, makes more appetizing and wholesome food and is more economical. Royal Baking Powder is specially made for use in the preparation of the finest and most delicate cookery.

New York, November 20.—There was little of bear ammunition left in the stock market this morning, with which to continue the scare of the underwent a change for the better with the effect of closing stocks at or near their highest prices for the day, which were materially better than the closing figures of last evening. Many of the influential operators and railroad officials, including Mr. Gould, were out with bullish interviews and to cap the climax, London, which has been a seller in this market for the past two days, turned up again as a buyer on a liberal scale, supplemented by western operators. The bears were not disposed to give up the fight without a struggle, and the ralby western operators. The bears were not disposed to give up the fight without a struggle, and the ralles were frequent, though not long lived, and considerable feverishness was exhibited by dealing. Under these disturbing influences the upward movements which began at opening, however, was not interrupted to any appreciable extent throughout the entire session. There was a continuance of sharp movements among the speciaties, and Tennessee Coal vibrated rapidly as usual, though its fluctuations were not quite so violent as during the past few days. Trusts were inclined to weakness at first, but recovered later in the day, and while sugar and cotton of the day, and while sugar and cotton of were active, the final changes are slight. The close was quiet, but strong at about the best prices of the day. THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DI-RECTORS MET YESTERDAY

d Decide to Have a Banquet in December —The New Members Taking Hold—Committees Appointed. An annual banquet-That was determined upon by the chamber merce yesterday.

A conference meeting of the board of direcors and a committee of members of the chamher of commerce, to take necessary action pro-viding for the first annual banquet of the chamber, was held yesterday morning.

President Oglesby called the meeting to order and stated the object of the meeting as above suggested, and added that after havingfully considered the matter at several dif-it meetings, the board of directors had usly determined upon the advisability ding the first annual banquet of the or-ation, and that the attendance of the mittee present had been requested for urpose of a conference in this connection, A hearty call was made for Mr. H. W. Grady, who spoke enthusiastically favoring the idea, and suggested that it be made an annual event of the organization, and calling attention to the great benefits arising from such social reunions of the membership; also stention to the great benefits arising from such social reunions of the membership; also the advantages secured to our city and state from having present as invited guests distinguished citizens of this and other states of the union.

Mr. Grady was followed by Colonel Albert Howell, who expressed himself as an earnest advocate of the chamber of commerce and thought the banquet an important movement and in the right direction. Remarks of a similar character were made by Captain T. J. Hightower, Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, Mr. Clarence Knowles, Mr. Aaron Haas and others, all earnestly favoring the same idea. Mr. George W. Parrôtt moved that the action of the board of directors be heartily in dorsed, and that the meeting offer their own support, and request the co-operation of the entire membership.

Mr. E. P. Chamberlin moved the appointment of a preliminary committee of seven, including President Oglesby, as chairman, to take immediate action and formulate all necessary plans and appoint all committees for the banquet. This resolution was also unanimously carried, and the following committee appointed:

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT.

J. Duffy, the Live Peachtree Street

Mr. J. J. Duffy, the Live Peachtree Street
Grocer, and H s Wonderful Flour
Receive a Compliment.

Mr. J. J. Duffy offered $25 in cash for the best loaf of bread at the Piedmont exposition made of his flour. There were many contestants for this prize. It is safe to say that they all deserved a medal. The fact that the flour handled by Mr. Duffy is among the best sold in any market, is in itself a guarantee of the excellency of the bread made by the various parties who contested. One of the largest and best candy and crackermakers said: "The bread exhibited at the exposition made out of the flour handled by Duffy is something above the ordinary. It is simply beyond the reach of competitors. I do not think I ever in my life saw as fine bread. All the contestants made fine bread, which must be due in part to the superior quality of this flour. I have been using the flour for some time and know it is the best I have had in the house. I am proud of the success that Mr. Duffy is making in this direction."

This sentiment is the exponent of the opinion of the people generally. The flour Mr. Duffy handles and guarantees is of the best quality, and those who desire to obtain this flour can do so by calling apon him at his store.

In addition to this flour Mr. Duffy handles the very best line of groceries of all kinds. His store is a perfect panorama of the delicacies of the season. Having been in the business for a number of years he is well and favorably known, and the people are aware that when he represents his goods to be so and so they are just that way. If you would like something really good, something above the average, call at Duffy's, the popular Peachtree street grocer, and you will not fail to find it.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DI-RECTORS MET YESTERDAY

And Decide to Have a Banquet in December The New Members Taking Hold-Committees Appointed.

That was determined upon by the chamber commerce yesterday.

A conference n eeting of the board of direcors and a committee of members of the chamber of commerce, to take necessary action pro-viding for the first annual banquet of the namber, was held yesterday morning.

President Oglesby called the meeting to order and stated the object of the meeting as above suggested, and added that after having efully considered the matter at several dif-ant meetings, the board of directors had usly determined upon the advisability iding the first annual banquet of the or-ation, and that the attendance of the nittee present had been requested for urpose of a conference in this connection,

A hearty call was made for Mr. H. W. irady, who spoke enthusiastically favoring the idea, and suggested that it be made an annual event of the organization, and calling attention to the great benefits arising from such social reunions of the membership; also such social reunions of the membership; also the advantages secured to our city and state from having present as invited guests distinguished citizens of this and other states of the union.

Mr. Grady was followed by Colonel Albert Howell, who expressed himself as an earnest advocate of the chamber of commerce and thought the banquet an important movement and in the right direction. Remarks of a similar character were made by Captain T. J. Hightower, Mr. E. P. Chamberlin, Mr. Clarence Knowles, Mr. Aaron Haas and others, all earnestly favoring the same idea. Mr. George W. Parrott moved that the action of the board of directors be heartily in dorsed, and that the meeting offer their own support, and request the co-operation of the entire membership.

Mr. E. P. Chamberlin moved the appointment of a preliminary committee of seven, including President Oglesby, as chairman, to take immediate action and formulate all necessary plans and appoint all committees for the banquet. This resolution was also unan-

A DESERVED COMPLIMENT.

Mr. J. J. Duffy, the Live Peachtree Street
Grocer, and H s Wonderful Flour
Receive a Compliment.

Mr. J. J. Duffy offered $25 in cash for the best loaf of bread at the Piedmont exposition made of his flour. There were many contestants for this prize. It is safe to say that they all deserved a medal. The fact that the flour handled by Mr. Duffy is among the best sold in any market, is in itself a guarantee of the excellency of the bread made by the various parties who contested. One of the largest and best candy and crackermakers said: "The bread exhibited at the exposition made out of the flour handled by Duffy is something above the ordinary. It is simply beyond the reach of competitors. I do not think I ever in my life saw as fine bread. All the contestants made fine bread, which must be due in part to the superior quality of this flour. I have been using the flour for some time and know it is the best I have had in the house. I am proud of the success that Mr. Duffy is making in this direction."

of the success that Mr. Duffy is making in this direction."

This sentiment is the exponent of the opinion of the people generally. The flour Mr. Duffy handles and guarantees is of the best quality, and those who desire to obtain this flour can do so by calling upon him at his store.

In addition to this flour Mr. Duffy handles the very best line of groceries of all kinds. His store is a perfect panorama of the delicacies of the season. Having been in the business for a number of years he is well and favorably known, and the people are aware that when he represents his goods to be so and so they are just that way. If you would like something really good, something above the average, call at Duffy's, the popular Peachtree street grocer, and you will not fail to find it.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION THE DIBECTORS MAKE THEIR FIRST REPORT, Date—Cobb County's Sc Machine Taxes Coming In.

The directors of the experiment station at Griffin submitted yesterday the first report ever made by that institution to the executive ever made by that institution to the executive department. It is interesting for this reason. First, is given the report of the executive committee to the honorable board of directors, Georgia experiment station:

Sirs—In accordance with the instructions of the board on August 29th, the executive committee, accompanied by Chairman Henderson, Superintendent Redding, Horticultarist Spith, and W. H. Parkins, architect of Atlants, visited the farm, selected the sites for officers' dwellings, and laid off the grounds surrounding them. Mr. Parkins was instructed to precare plans for the dwellings. This he did. The first bids made by contractors upon the plans were deemed excessive. The plans were accordingly modified and fresh bids advertised for. On September 27th the contract was awarded Mr. William Arnold, of Atlants, for the secotion of two dwellings, according to plans and specifications, at $2,500 each.

On September 27th the contract was awarded Mr. William Arnold, of Atlants, for the erection of two dwellings, according to plans and specifications, at $2,500 each.

The buildings are now in course of construction, and will probably be finished within sixty days.

Superintendant Redding entered upon the discharge of his duties September 1st, at which date Hortleuturist Spith also took residence upon the farm. The station being thus fully officered, this committee has been relieved of the duties of executive management in detail, and refers to the reports of the officers herewith presented for information as to the progress of the work upon the farm. This committee presents herewith a statement of receipts and expenditures of moneys to November 1, with proper vouchers for submission to the auditing committee. The secretary reports that there still remains in the state treasury subject to his order, and to the credit of the building fund, the sum of $4,302.11. The citizons of Spalding county are indobted to the board $4,000 (a part of the offer made by them for the location of the station), which amount, we understand, will be pade on demand. It might be proper for the board at this meeting to determine the uses to which the surplus of this fund, over and above the amount necessary to complete the building now under contract shall be put. Under the state law this board is required to submit quarterly to the governor a detailed statement of its financial operations. We suggest that the accretary be instructed to lay before his excellency a copy of the statement accompanying this and of his own report. Respectfully submitted.

The sewing machine agent taxes are con n under the new law, introduced by Hon. Clark Howell, of Fulton. It will be remembered that a peculiar defect in the law before this imposed no penalty for the non-payment of this tax. Sewing machine companies were not liable for the agents' tax, and, consequently, no tax was paid. Less than $200 was collected in the past year. than $200 was collected in the past year.

Though it has been only a week or ten days since the law went into effect, over $700 has been paid into the comptroller's office. This is the tax for 1889, and as only about forty-five days of the year remained, the tax comes high. Each company paid $200 for doing business until January 1st, in addition to the $5 for each of its agents.

Commissioner Henderson makes out this list of the packages of seeds distributed by his department for the years named. One reason dates is that a great many packages were given out to visitors at the department and in other ways, and no account was taken of them.

It is hardly probable that the acts of the last legislature will be published before the 1st of March. The bulk is enormous compared with that of other legislatures. A great many laws go into effect before that time, and certified copies can be obtained by writing to the secretary of state. About 900

One department appropriation, badly needed at the capitol, is for collecting, sorting and binding the acts passed by the Georgia legisla-ture prior to 1874. There is an immense bulk ture prior to 1874. There is an immense bulk of this exceedingly valuable matter, and it can not be used, even for official reference, without a great waste of time. Not more than half a dozen volumes were bound prior to 74, and one year is missing since then. It is not believed that any of the papers have ever been lost, but they have been moved so often and handled so much that they are in terrible shape now. Each act is separate, and to hunt for one of them is like hunting for a needle in a haystack. Money couldn't be better speut than in binding those old laws.

Cobb-county promises to take the lead in Georgia in the matter of common schools.

County School Commissioner W. R. Power was in Commissioner Hook's office yesterday and said, in speaking of the matter:

"Our county board of education is unanimous in favor of an eight month's term. The matter has been thoroughly canvassed, and the eight month's term is assured. That will take an act of the legislature, so it can't go into effect before 'M, but we'll have everything in readiness by then. We count on the state furnishing a four month's school. To run the other four months the county will levy a tax of two mills. The people are in dead earnest about it, and Cobb county is going to have the best public schools in the state of Georgia."

Hardy Perdue, sentenced in October, '88, in Pickens county, for five years, assault with in-tent to murder, was pardoned yesterday.

A pardon granted to Jim Watkins, a negro, sentenced for burglary from Heard county, in 1876, was withheld yesterday just in time to prevent its going into effect, and will new probably be revoked. The petition stated that Watkins stole only fifteen or twenty pounds of meat from a smokehouse, and had served twelve years. It was ascertained, however, that Watkins had not served continuously since '76, but for five or six years he was at liberty, having escaped from the chaingang.

A petition was received in the executive artment yesterday for the pardon of Gratson, the man that helped Simmons ank in Augusta five or six years ago.

THE MILITARY ADVISORY BOARD.

sion Yesterday Considering Some Important Matters. The military advisory board is in session in

The military advisory board is in session in Atlanta. They met yesterday morning pursuant to the governor's call.

A full board is present—Adjutant General J. McIntosh Kell, presiding, and the following members: Colonel George A. Meroer, of the First Georgia Volunteers; Quartermaster General Charles H. Olmstead; Lieutenant Colonel William Garrard, of the Savanaah Volunteer Guards hattery; Colonel Wilberforce Daniel, aide-de-camp to the governer; Captain Price Gilbert, of the Columbus Guards; Captain Roff Sims, of the Southern Cadets; Captain Roff Sims, of the Southern Cadets; Captain George B. Forbes, of the Atlanta Artillery; and Lieutenant Colonel William F. Jones, of the Ninth Georgia battery.

The day yesterday was taken up in considering the cases of about a dozen white companies and half a dozen colored companies cited to show cause why they should not be disbanded. The following is furnished as a list of the white companies so cited to appear:

DuBignon Volunteers, of Milledgeville, the Spalding Greys, the Hill City Cadets, of Rome, the Quitman Guards, the Hancock Vanguard, Baldwin Blues, Southern Riffes, of Talbotton, Constitutional Guards, of Taylor county, Griffin Light Guard, Rome Light Guard, Thomson Guards, Tatmail Guards, Wiley Guards, of Pleasant Hill, and the Jackson Artillery, of Albany.

The colored companies are: Georgia Cadets, of Atlanta; Governor's Volunteers, of Atlanta; Washington Guards, of Atlanta; Douglas Light Infantry, of Augusta.

These are the companies found deficient at the inspection. It may be noted here that these inspections are not made by a state officer appointed for the purpose, but by some militia officer of character, whose residence is conveniently near the company to be examined.

All these companies were disposed of yesterday. Some were recommended to be disbanded, and the commissions of their officers revoked. Others were granted further time and let go on probation.

It is believed that the Atlanta colored companies were all given time.

The result will not be off

It is believed that the Atlanta colored companies were all given time.

The result will not be officially announced until the secret session is over today.

The first business for today is the consideration of applications from several new companies. Some of these are white, some colored. It was stated pretty authoritatively last night that the colored quota was about full and that no new colored companies would be enrolled.

After this plans for the state endampment of next summer will be considered and rules prescribed. Then bids for the location of the site of the encampment will be called for, so that the matter of the site can be determined at the next meeting of the board.

It is believed that about $7,000 can be appropriated to the encampment, and the weeding out process is necessary to make this amount sufficient.

Adjournment of the board will probably be
